Singapore Invasion Is Seen Near

By Associated Press

A British task force is sweeping mines out of the invasion seaway leading to the Malay Peninsula and Singapore, Tokyo radio reported today as five Jap cities blazed from a 600-plane Superfortress strike. Tokyo said a task force of 16 warships, including two aircraft carriers, yesterday began clearing mines out of waters southeast of Car Nicobar island 300 miles north of Sumatra.

This is on the invasion route to the Malay peninsula. Japanese are already evacuating nonessential civilians from the Singapore naval base in anticipation of invasion.

The big punch of the war was packed by Superforts carrying 4000 tons of fire bombs and explosives in their five-way strike. It overshadowed all ground actions, including a deeper penetration of Indo-China as China began her ninth year of war, and an Australian amphibious operation which gained full control of Balikpapan's important oil harbor on southeast Borneo.

Tokyo said raids on the five cities, including Nippon's greatest aluminum producing city, began shortly before midnight and continued until 3:30 a. m. Fires still blazed after dawn.

Fires were so hot in Shimizu, whose factories under the shadows of the sacred Fujiyama produce half of Nippon's aluminum, that they parted the clouds and illuminated the inside of raiding Superforts.

The big Maruzen oil refinery at Shimotsu, 35 miles southeast of Osaka, hit for the second time within a week, blazed so brightly B-29 crews said the clouds resembled "a solid wall of flame."

Smoke columns rose four miles above Kofu, rail and military city 70 miles west of Tokyo. Large fires blazed in Chiba, railway junction and military depot center on Tokyo Bay 20 miles southeast of the capital. Clouds prevented observation of results of the attack on Akashi, fifth city hit. It is an aircraft producer, already 71 per cent destroyed in four previous raids.

Twelve hours before the B-29s struck, 100 Mustang fighters from Iwo Jima raked 12 air fields around Tokyo, knocking out 73 enemy planes. Nine of the fields were junk piles of wrecked aircraft. Tokyo said 160 other raiders hit suicide plane bases on Kyushu island at the same time. Fifth Air Force fighters, recently advanced to Okinawa from the Philippines, raided Kyushu Tuesday and Wednesday without opposition.

Other Allied planes knocked out 14 Jap ships, including four still on the ways.

With only an estimated 800,000 tons of shipping left, the Japs are using junks and sampans to move troops in the Gulf of Tonking, water flight route from isolated Indo-China to China. American planes strafed them as Chinese troops drove 11 miles beyond the Indo-China border.

Ruin in 20 Jap Cities Listed

GUAM, July 7 (AP)—The pattern of ruin designed by Superfortress fire raids has spread over 121.48 square miles of 20 Jap cities. Damage wrought in 10 other cities struck recently by the B-29's as yet to be assessed from aerial photographs.

Here are the burned out areas of the 20 cities, all important industrial centers:

Tokyo, 56.3 square miles; Nagoya, 12.33; Yokohama, 8.94; Osaka, 16.93; Kawasaki, 3.37; Kobe, 6.80; Hamamatsu, 1.81; Kagoshima, 2.085; Shizuoka, 2.28; Yokkaichi, 1.23; Toyohashi, 1.70; Amagasaki, .71; Fukuoka, 1.30; Omuta, .11.

Moji, .32; Shimonoseki, .51; Sasebo, .41; Nobeoka, .515; Tokushima, 1.70, and Okoyama, 2.13.

JAPAN CENTERS HIT—A five-pronged Superfortress strike on Kofu, Chiba and Shimizu, in the Tokyo area, and Shimotsu and Akashi (arrows) has devastated the cities which today are struggling to extinguish fire caused by more than 4000 tons of incendiary and demolition bombs.

5 Units of 5th Army Due Home By February

By SID FEDER

CASERTA, Italy, July 7 (AP)—The veteran Fifth Army, which battled up the Italian boot from the Salerno shinbone to the Tyrolean kneecap, is about to be broken up.

By February five of its seven divisions and both its regimental combat teams will have been sent back to America.

The 85th (Custer) Division will lead the movement back home, starting in August. This division, which underwent 14 months' combat duty in Italy, will be the first all-selective service division in the U. S. Army to be deactivated.

Headquarters gave this lineup:

34th Division, with more combat time than any other outfit, to be redeployed to the United States and placed in tactical reserve for possible Pacific service.

85th Division to be deactivated after return home.

88th Division, now guarding 300,000 German prisoners in Italy, to be deactivated after return home.

91st Division, entering combat here last July, to be redeployed to the Pacific by way of United States.

92d Division to be returned to U. S.

91st Armored Division, veterans of African and Italian campaigns, already moved to Germany as part of occupation force.

10th Mountain Division, serving as occupation force in Trieste area for time being.

442d Regiment of Japanese-Americans to be returned home and placed in tactical reserve.

473d Regiment to be returned home and placed in tactical reserve.

The 88th and 91st Divisions and the 473d Regiment scheduled to leave for the U. S. in September.

92d Division will leave in October, the 34th in December and the 442d Regiment in February.

Officers said while the divisions being redeployed will retain their identification the troops comprising them will be radically changed in some instances.

The 34th already has dispatched most of its men with at least 85 service points to the 85th or 88th divisions. In exchange, the 34th now has received thousands of men with less than 85 points from those two divisions.

When the trip home starts the 34th probably will be made up entirely of troops who have less than 85 points or are classified as essential.

Stalin Real Berlin Boss In GI Zone

By DANIEL DELUCE

BERLIN, July 7 (AP)—Soviet authorities maintained a tight grip on the entire military government of Berlin today while high officials of three powers tried to solve two complicated problems—food and boundaries.

No district yet had been taken over from the Russians by either American or British military government detachments, although United States military forces supposedly formally occupied their Berlin zone on July 4, and the British held a flag-raising ceremony yesterday.

Soviet commanders in all the Berlin boroughs obeyed Soviet instructions to stay on the job and supervise the German city administration.

The United States' plan was to take governmental control of its zone at midnight Wednesday. The British had hoped to get their Berlin government operating by tomorrow, but this appeared indefinitely delayed.

The Soviet representatives, it was learned, had declined to make food reserves in the Soviet Allied zone available to any district controlled by the other Allies pending conclusion of a barter deal on the highest levels under which the Russians would be paid "in kind" for such food.

Although this was the third day of the governmental muddle as far as the Americans were concerned their direct relations with Russian officers in the various boroughs continued to be marked by warm cordiality.

But the Americans were visibly puzzled, if not chagrined, that the Anglo-American sharing of Berlin with the Soviet Union should have been so haphazardly arranged in advance.

The common question among American military government officers today was why they came to Berlin.

They pointed out that the American-British entrance to Berlin was "facilitated" by a withdrawal of the area of Mecklenburg, Madgebur, Thuringia and Saxony. In these areas, neither the British nor the Americans engaged in any large-scale dismantling of factories or in the removal of livestock from the countryside. The areas were left in an improved economic condition over what they were when first conquered.

In return, the western powers in Berlin are trying to assume responsibilities over more than 1,000,000 impoverished city dwellers whose economic capacity has been reduced almost literally to what can be produced with bare hands.

The only operation now being carried out in Berlin by American and British forces is a security patrol of the areas where their troops are billeted. The patrols have been ordered not to interfere in any way with the Russian troops. They have been forbidden to ask the Russians to show their identification papers, and are not to intervene if the Germans complain that supplies in retail stores and wholesale warehouses are being removed by Soviet truck crews.

French embarrassment has been even more keen than that of the other two western powers. French officers continued to be house guests of American officers, but there was no positive indication as to when French troops would reach Berlin, and at least two different areas were reported still under consideration for the French occupation.

A Soviet-appointed mayor in one supposedly American-ruled borough told a senior United States officer today he had been informed by the Russian commandant that the Russians would relinquish responsibility next Tuesday. From that time on, the mayor quoted the commandant, there would be American control of food and services.

Reds Won't Quit Bay Stater's Zone

BERLIN, July 7 (AP)—Lt. Col. John J. Maginnis, the American officer ordered to take over the Schoeneberg district of Berlin, says contradicting orders from U. S. and Soviet "higher levels" are delaying American occupation of the assigned district.

"My Soviet opposite number told me he had been ordered not to withdraw from Schoeneberg," Col. Maginnis, of 53 Elm st., Worcester, Mass., said yesterday. "I told him I had been ordered to come in. We have established most friendly relations between us while waiting for higher levels to clear up the matter."

British Papers Urge Unified Reich Control

LONDON, July 7 (AP)—Unified Allied control over all Germany was urged by four leading British newspapers today in simultaneous editorials opposing splitting the Reich into four zones of occupation with different policies in each zone.

Declaring the dismemberment of Germany was creating grave economic and political problems, all insisted the question of an occupational government be threshed out at the coming Potsdam conference of the Big Three.

American Factories In Berlin Stripped

BERLIN, July 7 (AP)—Arthur E. Dunning of Bath, Me., secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Germany, said today that great concerns owned by American interests had been stripped of their machinery in the Russian occupation of the German areas in which the plants were situated.

"National Cash Register, Frigidaire, Ford, Opel (owned by General Motors), Hollerith (owned by International Business Machines), Singer, Mix and Genest, and Woolworth all have been raided," Dunn declared.

"In many cases delicate precision instruments were involved, which are now lying around in Berlin railway stations awaiting shipment. Some of these needed to be kept on a certain even temperature, which, of course, was impossible if they lie exposed outdoors. Much of this machinery, in my opinion, is now junk."

The Chamber of Commerce secretary is probably the only American who lived in Germany as an enemy through two World Wars. His wife was an invalid in 1941 when Adolf Hitler's Reich declared war on the United States. The Dunnings' passports were extended by the State Department, working through the Swiss Legation.

Dunning said the Nazis arrested him in September, 1942, but freed him after eight days. He has lost 40 pounds and appeared emaciated.

At present, he said, 95 per cent of Berlin residents are suffering from dysentery and the water is badly polluted.

Imogene Innocent, Says Hero Hubby

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., July 7 (AP)—Maj. G. Ralsey Stevens, 3d, expressed confidence today that his 24-year-old wife, Imogene, held on a manslaughter charge in the slaying of a young submarine sailor, will ultimately be "vindicated and acquitted of any wrong-doing." The major, who returned from his Europe in post Thursday in response to a "come home at once" cablegram from his wife, asserted that "no judgment should be passed upon any person which is based upon the gossip of scandalmongers and irresponsible persons."

Maj. Stevens, member of a prominent New Canaan family and former New Hampshire University athlete, said he had "no doubt as to the accuracy" of his wife's account of how 19-year-old Albert Kovacs was shot to death just two weeks ago.

She told police she shot the sailor, a Pacific veteran, in self-defense when she accosted him and his brother, James, in the home of her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milton, thinking them intruders.

Maj. Stevens, who conferred with David Goldstein, his wife's lawyer, for half an hour today, issued this statement:

"After a lengthy conference with my wife last evening I received her version of what transpired in the Milton home. I have no doubt as to the accuracy of her story. There is no question in my mind that, when all of the facts are brought to light before any court or jury, my wife will be vindicated and acquitted of any wrongdoing.

"Under the circumstances, as I know them, I have complete faith and confidence that any reasonable-minded judge or jury will find that my wife acted properly when confronted by the two Kovacs boys. She did what any woman would have done, and I hope the public will refrain from reaching any conclusion as to her guilt or innocence until they receive the entire story.

"No judgment should be passed upon any person which is based upon the gossip of scandalmongers and irresponsible individuals.

"I have read some of the newspaper articles and official statements and I feel that the facts have been distorted. However, in due course, I hope that this will be corrected."

Goldstein said that he and Maj. Stevens would confer again Monday to discuss the question of raising bonds for Mrs. Stevens, held in the county jail in lieu of $50,000 bonds since the shooting.

Maj. Stevens was reunited with his wife at the jail last night.

Imogene, who prepared for the visit with a series of beauty treatments, wept and reminded Stevens that just 20 months ago they were married. He left for overseas duty with a paratroop group seven days later.

His blond hair slightly mussed, Stevens appeared worried after chasing about in a vain effort to get bail. He wore the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, a Presidential citation, ribbon of the European theater with four battle stars and the arrowhead showing he was in the Normandy invasion.

Week-End Ideal But Crops Lag

Tossing such quibbling words as "probably," "possibly" and "maybe" to the gentle west wind, the weatherman today enthusiastically announced.

"We're going to have beautiful, gorgeous summer weather both today and Sunday. There's nothing in sight to mar it."

He added that tonight will be peachy for sleeping with the mercury dropping to a comfortable 62 degrees and humidity down to a reasonable figure.

While the weatherman was waxing rhapsodic, the New England crop reporting service of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture said that the condition of vegetable crops on July 1 was varied and below normal.

Crops got a late start due to rain and wet soil, the report stated. Southeastern Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut had more favorable weather and hardy crops in that section have done very well, the service said.

Bob Hope Finds These GIs Sad

PARIS, July 7 (INS)—Screen and radio star Bob Hope said today that he has covered 275,000 miles and played to ten million service men and women since 1941.

He breezed into Paris today to start a six-week tour among GI's on the continent and revealed that for the first time he found an audience restive.

"When we played to the 44th Division in England near Southampton the other day we found the audience inattentive," Hope said. "It was a deployment outfit and the men were restless. The men didn't know where they were going. They knew only they were going into another fight."

Lost Boy's Pop Cures Amnesia

He said his first name was Joseph and he went to a parochial school and he lived in Cambridge, but for the life of him he couldn't remember his last name or his address, so the park department employe who had found him yesterday at the William F. Smith playground in Brighton told him she thought she would call the police.

"Aw, don't call the cops," he said.

"But you must be all of 6 years old," the employe said, "and I think you could remember your full name and address if you tried."

"Cops," he explained in a worldly-wise manner, "are bad to you when you run away."

"Don't call them cops, call them policemen," corrected the playground worker. "They're your friends, not your enemies."

"Ain't my friends," insisted the small fry, "Don't call the cops."

But the cops were called. He couldn't remember his last name or his address for them, either. In fact they agreed they had never heard such double-talk. He reversed himself so many times they had to give it up and take him to the Chardon Street Home, where, today, he was making no effort to jog his memory for the world of adults he so frankly distrusted.

He did admit having a vivid memory of the night-before-the-Fourth bonfire at the William F. Smith playground and he granted that he might have been there with his father and sister, but when the enormity of his indiscretion in admitting that much dawned on him he emphasized he couldn't remember their names either.

Well, as it turned out, he hadn't been fibbing when he said his name was Joeph, but he was away off the beam about living in Cambridge. His father picked up a newspaper and saw a picture of his offspring. He hastened to the Chadron Street Home, where he told officials:

"That's my boy. That's Joseph John Cobuccio, Jr., of Main st., Charlestown. This is the fifth time he has run away."

Junior began to quibble about it being only the fourth time, but Cobuccio, Sr., was soon ushering him out the door.

Butter Ration Cost to Be Cut

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The government will make about 12 per cent. more butter available for civilians in August—which will permit a slight reduction in the ration point cost, effective July 29.

This was announced today by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Price Administrator Bowles.

The new value is expected to be 20 points a pound compared with 24 at present.

Civilian supply for August will be 90,700,000 pounds compared with about 80,000,000 pounds in each of the past few months.

FALL RIVER, July 7 (AP)The American Federation of Labor won an NLRB-supervised election for a bargaining agent at the Firestone Rubber and Latex Products Co., by a vote of 566 to 444 over the CIO, the board said.

Imogene's Daughter Now With Texas Dad

AMARILLO, Tex., July 7 (AP)—Paula Kathaleen Funderburg, young daughter of Mrs. Imogene Stevens and her former husband, Sgt. Carl Funderburg, is now in Amarillo with Funderburg and his present wife.

The child had been in Connecticut with her mother, who is held in the slaying of Sailor Albert Kovacs, 19.

Mrs. Stevens' father, J. O. Dumas of Pampa, Tex., brought the child back to Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Funderburg brought Paula Kathaleen here yesterday.

Quincy Corporal Saves Pal By Diving on Jap Grenades

OKINAWA (Delayed) (AP)—Marine Cpl. Walter G. Parker of 503 Hancock st., Quincy, Mass., couldn't throw Jap grenades out of a shell crater fast enough, so he dived on two of them and pulled a third under his body, probably saving the life of a buddy.

Parker, now recovering from body and leg wounds, and PFC Eugene R. Lewis of 19 Clifton st., Revere, Mass., had taken cover in the crater on "hand grenade ridge," when Sixth Division Marines captured the hill.

As the two Leathernecks hugged the crater, the first grenade plopped in. Parker threw it back. Then two more came in together. The corporal fumbled both grenades, then dived on them.

At that instant a third grenade rolled into the crater, Cpl. Parker pulled it under his body, too.

Two of them exploded, the other was a dud.

Earlier the same day the Quincy Leatherneck was in a trench with 2 Lt. Marvin J. Wiggins, Jr., when the Japs attacked.

The lieutenant said "Parker threw back three or four grenades that morning."

The Japs then attacked Parker and the officer and the corporal climbed from the trench, emptying his Tommy-gun into the two Japs.

Tieup Stresses Hub Port Needs

As the hour for Senate action on the $15,000,000 Port of Boston Authority bill on Monday approached, Daniel Donovan, international representative of the Longshoremen's Union, gave a graphic demonstration today of the need for speedy enactment of the measure.

Donovan disclosed that a ship loaded with wool even now was tied up at Mystic docks, unable to discharge its cargo because of lack of facilities.

"Wool is the chief cargo of the port of Boston," Donovan said. "If we can't handle one ship, how can we expect to handle a dozen or more? We've got to have more piers and we need them right away. Otherwise we're going to lose our wool trade entirely."

The $15,000,000 appropriation, which provides for construction of additional pier facilities, comes before the Senate for action Monday and an informal poll shows at least 75 per cent of the membership will favor the bill.

Senators from every section of the state are in favor, including Sen. George W. Stanton of Fitchburg, who today said:

"One of the greatest tragedies in the history of Massachusetts will occur if the Legislature fails to appropriate the $15,000,000 requested by the Governor for development of the port of Boston.

"Boston is the greatest natural port on the Atlantic seaboard, and money spent on it right now will bring permanent prosperity to Massachusetts. It will provide an outlet for Massachusetts products with a minimum of transportation costs and will allow us to import material similarly.

"It will mean that labor will enjoy an era of prosperity in peace times unprecedented in the history of this state."

Urging greatest speed in the improvement of the Port of Boston, Gov. Tobin called attention to the prospects of great foreign trade for the next year, and said:

"I am confident that the legislature will respond favorably and enact the port bill which will make available $15,000,000. Every section of our economy—capital, management and labor—is keenly aware of the necessity of the development of our port facilities.

"This is merely the beginning. Our thinking should be conditioned to an ultimate development in which we must be prepared to share in the greatest international traffic the world has ever seen. We may never again see such a community of spirit as now exists."

Hub Break Nets Safe and $4000

Strong-armed thieves today broke into the offices of Strazzulla Bros. Co., Congress st. tomato merchants, and carted off a safe containing $4000 in cash and other valuables.

Edward J. Mahoney, an employe of the Boston Fire and Police Notification Co., discovered a broken window in the building and notified police of the Milk st. station. The latter then found the offices ransacked and notified one of the owners, Dominic Strazzulla of Harvard rd., Belmont.

After inspection of the property, he said the big safe was missing. He said the $4000 represented receipts and also today's payroll.

Investigators said the safe could not have been moved from the scene except by truck.

2 Transports Bring 765 Veterans to N. Y.

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—The transports Benjamin Huntington and Eleazer Wheelock brought 765 Army men back today.

Among 383 aboard the Huntington were the 14th Chemical Company, the 187th Signal Repair Company and 53 liberated prisoners of war.

The Eleazer Wheelock carried 382 men, including the 63th M. P. Escort Guard Company, Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the 8th Tank Destroyer Group, and some reassignment men.

All the troops went to Camp Shanks, N. Y.

Where's the Fire?

PARIS, Ill., July 7 (AP)—Fireman Al Malone gave the police department's motorcycle a trial spin. These were the results:

He bumped over four curbs, sideswiped a print shop, ran into a tree, and crashed through a high board fence.

He escaped with minor injuries.

N. H. Corporal, Dad of 12, Has Armed Forces Record

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The War Department today named Cpl. Chester J. Barrett as the soldier with the most children. He has 12, including two sets of twins.

The Barrett family draws $300 monthly in dependency benefits, including $50 for Mrs. Barrett, $30 for the first child and $20 for each additional child.

Barrett is stationed at a POW camp at Spencer Lake, Me.

The 33-year-old Mrs. Barrett lives with her children—five boys and seven girls—at 11½ Curtis ave., Concord, N. H.

Nor did Navy records disclose any comparable record of Navy or Marine personnel. Thus Barrett is champion father of the Armed Forces.

At their home in Concord, Mrs. Barrett said today that while her financial worries are not too great, "I sure miss Chet."

"We get along reasonably well on our dependency benefits, and we are all anxious to have him home on furlough on July 16 for 12 days," she added.

They were married when she was only 16, she added, and "I was beginning to think I wasn't going to have any children," for the first two years of their married life.

Then came the first baby, she said, and, with a smile: "Now look at them."

Her children were playing at all manner of games inside and outside their modest home.

Before entering the Army in April, 1944, Barrett was employed by a local grain company.

"With plenty of overtime," Mrs. Barrett commented, "he made between $45 and $50 a week."

"But," with a sigh, "we do miss him terribly."

Probe Epidemic As 6 Infants Die

WORCESTER, July 7—Officials of the State Dept. of Health, Harvard Medical School and the local health dept. today sought to trace source of an epidemic of infectious diarrhea which has caused the death of six new-born infants in a Worcester hospital.

According to Erna M. Kuhn, superintendent of the hospital, and Dr. James O. Wails, public health director of the city, all the deaths occurred since June 20.

OPA Rule Keeps 40 Fine Steers From Slaughter

More than 25,000 pounds of the most succulent steak ever to come out of the west—in recent months, anyway—is walking around on the hoof at the Brighton abattoir, eating tons of hay, while the owner, a local concern, cannot slaughter the critters.

It's an OPA order. OPA explains the owner did not comply with its ruling that anyone slaughtering cattle in Massachusetts, for consumption within the state, would have to file by July 1 a report of his slaughtering for the three previous months.

The owner of the cattle at the abattoir did report, according to OPA, but he reported belatedly, so he was refused a slaughterer's permit.

The steers arrived in Brighton a week ago, 40 robust beef creatures weighing a total of 44,000 pounds with a steak potential of more than 25,000 pounds.

If the owner decides to solve his problem by selling them he will have to take a loss to the extent of his feed bill at least. Under OPA regulations he can not sell them at a price above ceiling—which was what he paid for them.

Meanwhile the steers are munching hay which is high, and Bostonians are eating what they can get—which is often dreary eating.

$125,000 School Fire in Brockton

BROCKTON, July 7—Fire of undetermined origin early today swept the Howard Elementary School building, 2½-story structure, causing damage estimated at $125,000.

The two upper floors of the brick building were burned out completely and the ground floor was damaged considerably.

Fire departments from Randolph, Stoughton, Abington and West Bridgewater aided in battling the blaze.

Federal Building Has Oven Blaze

Employees of the Federal Building had a fire scare today when a sheet of flame followed by billows of smoke burst from an oven in the kitchen of the third floor restaurant. The blaze was confined to the oven and quickly put out with sand after the fire department arrived.

Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly said the fire resulted from an accumulation of grease in the oven left behind by a chef now on his vacation.

Truman, Byrnes Will Travel Separately

WASHINGTON, July 7 (INS)—The White House announced today that at no time will President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes travel together during their forthcoming trip to a conference of the Big Three near Berlin.

The White House said the President and the Secretary would travel separately to safeguard the presidential succession in the event of accidents.

Ex-GI Dad of Quads Is Home With Woe

PITTSBURGH, July 7 (INS)—The Pittsburgh Army sergeant, who went overseas to battle the Germans and found himself the father of quadruplets, today was no longer a sergeant—or even in the Army—but he still had his troubles.

Sgt. William (Red) Thompson, home permanently on points, still refused to talk about his internationally known affair with an English barmaid that landed him in the news and estranged him from his Pittsburgh wife, Eleanor Jeneman Thompson.

The quadruplets' mother, Norah Carpenter, of Heanor, England, has received $70 monthly from the United States government as an allotment from Bill since she gave birth to the four babies in February, 1944. The money, used to provide for the three living quads, will no longer be forthcoming now that the father is out of the service.

Thompson, with 121 points, was overseas 31 months and in uniform four years. His allotment stopped, Bill can't:

1—Provide for his British-born children until he gets a job.

2—Marry their mother until he gets a divorce.

3—Bring them to the United States until he marries their mother.

His pretty wife, Eleanor, refused to give him a divorce, but he is "still asking." She refused, she said, because she wants him to "suffer for hurting" her. She added, however, she has no "love left for Bill." She knew two weeks ago he was discharged, her mother said.

N. E. Resorts Hard Hit By Sleeping Car Slash

New England's summer resort business, one of this area's major sources of income, may be severely hit as a result of the Office of Defense Transportation ruling banning sleeping car service for civilians who journey not more than 450 miles, transportation and hotel men predicted glumly today.

Samuel Boyer, spokesman for the New Haven, believed the order would swell the black market in railroad reservations. He said, "I think there will be many evasions, for this order is the most drastic to affect civilian transportation since the war began."

Boyer raised the question whether the ruling would be enforcible. He speculated that a passenger with a destination of less than 450 miles, but fairly close to it, might buy reservations for a little more than the 450-mile mark and then get off at his originally intended stop. The difference in money would not deter anyone in comfortable circumstances, he pointed out.

Herbert L. Baldwin, vice-president of the Boston & Maine, said he expected conditions to deteriorate in the matter of Pullman space for civilians. He added:

"Just two-thirds of the sleeping car service operating in and through New England over the lines of the Boston & Maine and the Maine Central will be abolished."

The suspension order goes into effect July 15. All the sleeping cars scheduled for New England operation had been sold out for this month. Hundreds of cancellations are expected. The railroads also expect many ticket holders will turn in their reservations for refunds.

The ODT order automatically rules out sleeping car service between Boston and New York, Boston and Montreal and Boston and Bangor, among other heavily used routes.

Sleeping car service will be available to Bostonians traveling to Washington or further and to points beyond Buffalo. Boston-to-Philadelphia sleepers are out.

Major league baseball clubs will have a problem. Many of their trips are less than 450 miles. Players long used to Pullman berths appear destined to learn about day coaches unless the clubs can turn to air travel, which is considered extremely unlikely in view of priorities.

Among the sleepy-eyed will be the major league baseball players, for they will lose sleeper service on many trips.

Pickets Still Patrol N. Y. News Buildings

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Pickets still patrolled newspaper buildings today as striking deliverymen remained silent on whether they planned to return to work in response to another WLB order. The War Labor Board telegraphed union officials yesterday to end the seven-day walkout "without delay" or face possible loss of retroactive benefits and the closed shop.

Union officials informed the board yesterday they had called a membership meeting for tomorrow afternoon to consider ending the strike. But this, the board said, was not "sufficiently expeditious or forthright."

S O S for Lost Maine Truck With Potatoes

Somewhere between Houlton, Me., and Hanover a truck loaded with 100 bags of potatoes vanished and the owner, John Wilcox of Houlton, appealed to Boston police today for help.

Wilcox reported the truck, driven by a Dorchester man, left Maine July Fourth and was due in Hanover the following day. He said it was probably abandoned somewhere along the route.

BRITISH R. R. MEN WIN

LONDON, July 7 (AP)—A half-million British railway workers have won a year-long campaign for two weeks' annual paid vacation instead of one, the National Union of Railway Men announced today.

Spurned Youth, 19, Admits Strangling

DETROIT, July 7 (AP)—A 19-year-old youth, arrested last night in Saginaw, Mich., today confessed the mysterious killing of Marie Beavers Berridge, Chief Assistant Prosecutor Frank G. Schemanske announced today.

Schemanske said the youth, Leo Pascarella, admitted strangling the 25-year-old waitress who spurned him.

"She stood me up and I killed her," Pascarella was quoted.

The body of Mrs. Berridge, estranged from her husband, was found June 29 under the bed in her boarding house room, a gag, made from a man's handkerchief, in her mouth.

Schemanske said Pascarella told how he met Mrs. Berridge on a blind date two months ago and made plans with her to go to Arizona.

He said she "stood me up" on their date Sunday, June 24, Schemanske related, and on the day of the killing she said, "Look, I'm not going anywhere with you," the assistant prosecutor declared, and that Pascarella told him he then seized her and that he tried to "keep her from yelling."

Pascarella told of then tidying up the room, pushing Mrs. Berridge's body under the bed and changing his clothes and taking flight.

King Praises China On War Anniversary

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Adm. King today marked the eighth anniversary of China's struggle against Japan with an expression of the Navy's admiration and praise for China's fortitude, courage and determination.

Adm. King expressed confidence that "the progress made in forcing Japanese troops along the coast between Shanghai and Hong Kong to fight a defensive war is the forerunner of more successes to come in spite of all difficulties."

Quiz Sailor Pair In Bath Murder

Two youthful sailors, who admitted they were AWOL from the Noroton, Ct., training school, were questioned today by the homicide squad after they appeared in the police lineup in connection with the alleged theft of a taxicab, which crashed into a North End cafe window.

Investigators of the slaying of Chase MacArthur, 61, Foxboro school superintendent, in a Carver st. Turkish bath last week, took the pair over for questioning after one told Lt. James V. Crowley that he had frequented Turkish baths in Newport.

Detectives also planned to question the pair about the beating of Leonard Fitzgerald of Somerville, who died in Psychopathic Hospital yesterday of injuries suffered in an attack by men in uniform last June 24.

The two sailors were arrested after a short chase when police witnesses of the crashing of the cab into the cafe window saw them running from the scene.

Hyman Cron of Woodcliff st., Roxbury, driver of the cab, told police the sailors hired his car in downtown Boston and asked him to stop in Dock sq. and get them some matches from an all-night restaurant.

According to his story, they drove the cab away after he left it, and a few minutes later crashed into the cafe window.

I. G. Farben Spy Chief Quizzed On War Powers

By DON WHITEHEAD

HOECHST, Germany, July 7 (AP)—Dr. Max Ilgner, described by U. S. Army authorities as chief of espionage activities of I. G. Farben Industrie, was held today for questioning into the affairs of the huge company whose war-making powers the U. S. Group Control Council terms a "major threat to the peace and security of the post-war world."

Ilgner and Dr. Herman Schmitt, principal director of Farben Industrie, were in military custody in Frankfurt-on-the-Main following completion of Army seizure of the management, assets and plants of the organization in the American zone of occupied Germany.

Col. Edwin S. Pillsbury of Berkeley, Cal., who directed the seizure late Thursday of the 24 Farben Industrie plants in the American zone, said his office had information showing that Farben, through Ilgner's agents, carried on industrial espionage throughout the world. Ilgner, he said, was one of the most active agents.

Fifth Scituate Fire Victim Dies

The fifth victim of a fire which swept the two story Scituate cottage yesterday, Mrs. Margaret Dooley, 71, died today at Weymouth hospital of severe burns.

Others to die were her daughter; Mrs. Marion P. Murphy, widow and former Boston school teacher; her two granddaughters, Jane, 6, and Ann Marie Murphy, 3, and her son Harry Dooley, 37, recently discharged from the Army.

Can't Shoot Deer Garden Raider

Raising a Victory Garden in New England isn't bad enough what with two much rain, too much snow, too much frost, too little sun and too much cold. Now it's deer chewing up the tender shoots.

Samuel Wolf of Quincy ave., Quincy Point, comulained to police today a rambling deer has been nibbling the tops off his beans.

The police thought about giving the animal a diet of lead but Game Warden Forrest Clark said "No, she'll be back in the woods in another couple of weeks."

Wolf mentioned his lost beans and Clark told him the city of Quincy will reimburse him for his loss.

Six other deer were reported roaming through the Point section of the Quincy Rod and Gun Club in Howard st.

M.I.T. Grads Held As First Postwar Stowaways

The first civilians to be flushed out of hiding as stowaways on a Europe-bound vessel from Boston since the war are two young scientists, Harry Thomas, Jr., 22, and Albert D. Ehrenfried, 23, Beacon st. fraternity house roommates.

They were released under nominal bail of $1 each by U. S. Comm. Martin T. Hall today after they pleaded not guilty to secreting themselves aboard a vessel here June 10 and copping a free ride to Europe and back. He continued their case to July 14.

Officers of the vessel said Thomas and Ehrenfried were discovered only after the ship was two days at sea on the return trip. It was stated the roommates had posed as members of the ship's band. They were turned over to the Coast Guard, then questioned by the FBI.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Thomas P. O'Connor said no sabotage was involved. He stated the two were college graduates and employed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology on work of importance to the government.

Army Waste Scored by Congressman

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Rep. Engel (R.) of Michigan, unofficial Appropriations Committee watch dog of Army spending, asserted today the War Dept. was throwing hard-earned tax dollars down a rat hole.

Engel, a member of the Appropriations subcommittee handling war funds, in a statement in the Congressional Record said billions of dollars have been spent on projects which the War Dept. has not justified before any congressional committee.

He emphasized that his criticism of Army spending was not directed at anyone in the theaters of operations but was aimed at "some of these swivel-chair gentlemen who get on a plane and in a few weeks come back with more ribbons on their chests than Eisenhower, Bradley, Clark or MacArthur ever received."

Since 1941, he said, Congress has given the Army more than $192,000,000,000 and it has spent more than $150,000,000,000, exclusive of $21,000,000,000 recently voted for the current fiscal year.

By the middle of 1946, Engel estimated, total Army appropriations since 1941 will exceed by $64,000,000,000 the assessed valuation of every piece of property, real and personal, in the 48 states as it was assessed in 1941.

As a result of many first-hand investigations, Engel said he has complained often of "the outrageous waste of the taxpayers' money" on various Army projects. He added, "the War Dept. was apparently oblivious and kept on wasting money."

Hub Janitor Attacked By 2 in Basement

Seized by two young men he surprised in the basement of the apartment house where he is employed as janitor in Royal st., Brighton, Walter E. O'Brien, 50, was struck on the arm by a piece of pipe in the hands of one of them.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I was 24 yrs. of age when I entered the Army. After serving two years, I was honorably discharged. I would like to know if I can take a course in photography via correspondence school?

M. McD., Medford.

A—I don't know of any such coourse available under the GI Bill. Perhaps you could attend night classes at some school with your working. Suggest you visit the Veterans Bureau, Educational Branch, Harold Kiley, director, in the Federal Building. They will assist you in every way possible and outline courses for which you might be eligible.

Q—Would you please tell me how I can file necessary request asking for release of my husband, serving in the Navy? I believe he would be entitled to a dependency discharge due to conditions at home.

M. M. C., Charlestown.

A—Contact the Home Service Bureau of the Red Cross, 159 Massachusetts ave., Back Bay.

Q—I am the wife of a discharged soldier who enlisted from Boston and served seven years. Is he supposed to report back to Boston following discharge? He recently wrote me, but the only address he gives is General Delivery, New York City.

M. C. P., Natick.

A—He is supposed to notify his local draft board when released from service. This, however, can be done by mail. It is not necessary for him to come back to Boston.

Q—I have lost my Navy discharge pin. Is it possible to get another? F. M., Somerville.

A—The Navy does not issue replacements. I understand you might be able to purchase discharge pin upon presentation of discharge papers in certain Army-Navy stores.

Q—My mother would appreciate an answer to following question. My brother has seen action overseas and has 100 points to his credit. He is now stationed in a camp in Virginia where points do not mean anything. Why? I thought it concerned all members of the Army, R. I. B., Milton.

A—Those with 85 or more points are eligible under War Dept. regulations, providing they can be replaced. Many men are being kept in the service because of the key positions they hold, vital to the Army. These men, according to the War Dept., will be discharged as soon as replacements are made available.

Glamor To Toe Tips

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

SHOES ARE AS bare as the new summer sun togs . . . with only slender strappings to secure your foot to the sole . . . maybe a sling pump with a closed toe and an enchanting buckle . . . or a walking shoe on a gypsy last with a neat tie and perforated vamp.

You may find it in a soft sandal or in a platform model . . . with white or gold nailheads to give it a dash . . . or it may be a play shoe of crushed kid in a moccasin style with plenty of toe room and no place for sand in your sole.

The new one strap thong sandals of gold and red and green . . . and of lush white suede are soft, flexible and pliable, fitting your foot like a glove on your hand . . . at the same time cool and refreshing and the completing extension of the Grecian topknot.

We're getting back to earth again literally and figuratively . . . and the foot this season has ample opportunity to display itself in all its well-groomed glory. The less shoe the smarter . . . and we say the more comfortable.

SHOES ARE SOFTER

Shoes this summer are softer . . . and the skins are thinner and really more like a glove leather . . . all because the foot is hugged with caressing chic . . . permitting the tootsies to show themselves as the wearer does her body, successively but in well-guarded stages as she moves from beach to play-courts . . . and into the evening patio parties.

We've pictured some smart-looking foot togs . . . those which have won New York acclaim . . . and which you'll see on the gals who are fashion-wise and clothes conscious. Women have taken to the bare look in shoes . . . since summertime is one time when feet must be well-shod and comfortable when the mercury makes its periodic climb.

LAVISH SHOE DISPLAY

Because of the lavish display of foot . . . there will be, we hazard a guess, less wear and tear on the stems which tote the silhouette . . . and, don't you adore the nudity of foot wear? Naturally, the girls love well cared for legs and feet dote on such shoe styles . . . since it affords' them a long-felt need of letting the foot breathe, too, in the hot weather.

So don't look "heavy" . . . from the top of your interesting updo . . . to the tip of your exposed toe. Suppleness is the keynote of this season's footwear.

Smartness in Shoes

THE BUREAU OF FASHION TRENDS have endorsed these summertime footwear . . . and here (at left) you see a red suede kid sling pump . . . entirely perforated for foot breathing . . . with matching bow and faille platform.

A DRESS-UP sling pump is this black suede kid with laced effect forming a diamond pattern (top at right) . . . giving eclat to the feet for street wear.

GOLD nailheads . . . three rows of them . . . stud the three-quarter inch platform on which these dark brown suede kid ankle-strap pumps are predicated (bottom at right) . . . by La Valle.

WHITE tum kid suede wedge play shoes (above at left) . . . by Joyce, Inc. . . . have the approval of the Bureau of Fashion Trends for slacks and hot-weather playclothes.

AN EXCELLENT shoe for town wear for girls like you and me who must stay put in an office . . . is this bright green suede kid sling with nail head trim . . . by De Liso.

FLING strap sandal of red suede kid . . . true to the naked silhouette style . . . gives the feet plenty of oomph . . . and a graceful delicacy from the back of the high heel to the displayed toe.

PERSONALITY PLUS . . . both Columbia star Janis Carter and the wooden clogs on her eye-catching pedal extremities . . . ideal for beach and playtogs . . . and smartened considerably with the rope ties.—R. M.

First Impressions

When you are introduced to someone, that someone is going to think something about you. You have it in your power to direct what that something will be. And since you never know what a new acquaintanceship will develop into, what part the new he or she may have in your life, it's mighty wise to put your best foot forward, and at once, while that important first impression is in the making.—Mrs. Beeckman.

My Day

(Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Friday—I have a letter from Dr. Williams, the superintendent of the New York training school for boys at Warwick, in response to certain points I raised in a recent column.

He tells me that the carpenter shop was kept working there during the school year by dint of collecting lumber from Army camps and anywhere else in the vicinity where it could be found.

At present, Dr. Williams went on, the boys have volunteered to increase the food supply by planting and harvesting vegetables, and already 1100 gallons of spinach and Swiss chard have been canned for use next winter.

* * *

DR. WILLIAMS also suggests that the art class is used for its therapeutic value more than I was given to understand, and that there may be more boys included, but on this point he sounds somewhat vague to me.

Concerning music and group singing, he says they have been unable to get anyone to act as instructor, since their former music instructor has had to take the position of director of recreation for the institution.

I wonder if, by chance, any of the salaries would be too low to attract the type of person who could handle boys of these ages, with their various and different backgrounds.

Dr. Williams also says, I am glad to report, that two baths a week are required, winter and summer, and the boys must put on clean clothes.

* * *

WHEN THEY are doing work during the day which soils their clothing and body they are expected to bathe, and during the summer each boy is scheduled for three swim periods in the lake every week.

"We have really rather prided ourselves," Dr. Williams writes, "on teaching the boys the importance of cleanliness."

Sour Cream Dishes Tasty

By MARTHA LEE

IT ISN'T the thunderstorm that sours your cream—it's simply that sultry weather provides the perfect atmosphere for both eventualities. The solution of the problem, of course, is to have lots of good recipes using sour cream all ready in your menu files.

Most pan-fried meats respond perfectly to the final addition of half a cup of sour cream, which makes a rich smooth gravy with no further effort, while vegetables such as squash or string beans, dressed with sour cream, are simply delicious. This recipe for baked zucchini, the tender dark green squash, is a great favorite, and extremely simple to prepare:

ZUCCHINI IN SOUR CREAM

3 cups sliced zucchini, unpeeled
½ tsp. salt
Pepper
½ cup sour cream
Cayenne
¼ cup grated cheese
Paprika

Arrange the zucchini in a greased casserole, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Stir a dash of cayenne into the sour cream and pour over the zucchini. Top with grated cheese and sprinkle with the paprika. Cover, and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven, 375 deg. F., then remove the cover and continue baking until the zucchini is tender and the top is nicely browned, about 15 minutes more. Makes 4 servings.

VEAL BIRDS WITH SOUR CREAM

2 lbs. veal steak, cut ½ inch thick
2 cups bread dressing
1 pint (or 2 cups) sour cream

Cut steak in serving pieces, season with salt and pepper, then place a spoonful of bread dressing in center of each and roll the meat around the dressing. Fasten with toothpicks or skewers. Fry the veal birds until golden brown—then add the sour cream. Cover the skillet and bake at 350 deg. F., or simmer on low heat until the veal is tender. Makes 8 servings.

Sour milk and sour cream are good foods at any time. They should not be too sour, of course. Use them at the right stage. But sour milk has all the fine food values that milk has when sweet, and these values are, for the most part, the kind that are not easily destroyed by cooking. So you get them in biscuits or cookies made with sour milk, or in delicious muffins or waffles, gravies, sauces, salad dressings, or pies made with sour cream, as well as in the ice-cold buttermilk that is so refreshing on a hot day.

SOUR CREAM SALAD DRESSING

1 cup milk
⅓ cup vinegar
3 tbsp. flour
2 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. salt
1 cup sour cream
2 eggs, beaten
5 tbsp. sugar

Heat the vinegar in the top of a double boiler. Combine the dry ingredients and add to the well beaten eggs and milk. Blend and add to the heated vinegar, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Cool and combine with equal parts of sour cream as it is used.

JULY COSMOPOLITAN

THE GREATEST ADVENTURE TALE THAT EVER REALLY HAPPENED!

"Captain Eddie"

BY BOB CONSIDINE

If you read it as fiction—you'd hardly believe a word!

Yet Bob Considine's "Captain Eddie" is the true life story of Eddie Rickenbacker, No. 1 Yank flyer of World War I.

And in effect it's the story of thousands of men and machines who are making the impossible look easy today.

Here are the hairbreadth escapes, the victories, the coveted awards. Here is the disillusionment that follows so many heroes back into civilian life. Here are the later triumphs. Here is great writing—and great reading. Great entertainment, too—20th Century-Fox is making it into a sensational movie for September release.

The rest of July Cosmopolitan is in keeping with "Captain Eddie." What other magazine ever brought you Bob Considine, Sinclair Lewis, Kathleen Norris, Vina Delmar, Struthers Burt, Westbrook Pegler—in a single issue?

BESIDES "CAPTAIN EDDIE," JULY COSMOPOLITAN OFFERS—

Vina Delmar's "A Fragrance to Remember" is a hauntingly beautiful story you'll treasure in your mind. Mary and Roger are drifting apart—it takes the death of a stranger to train them in the care of love.

"Naked City," by "Weegee," is a startling pictorial feature, a series of snaps of New York at night. "Weegee" earned his nickname by his uncanny knack of being there "when it happens." Pages 49-55.

Westbrook Pegler rips the false whiskers from a pet New Deal project in "The Truth about Grade-Labeling." He exposes it for what it is—a hand clapped over American free speech. Turn to page 44.

"The Mink Coat" is Kathleen Norris' newest novel and it's bomb-sighted straight to the feminine heart. It's the tragedy of Isabel Latimer, who threw away everything else in her quest for mink. Page 67.

BYRD'S HUMANE FORMULA

SENATOR BYRD of Virginia has again rendered a magnificent service to the American people in sending a letter to President Truman proposing in a concrete manner how to begin at once to reduce the back-breaking cost of big government.

In urging immediate steps to reverse the inflationary era of SQUANDERMANIA, the Senator from Virginia is advocating a policy which will validate war bonds, retain the purchasing power of benefit payments to disabled war veterans and to those who retire from employment under Social Security, and which will make life insurance do the humane job intended.

IN BRIEF, SENATOR BYRD'S BLUEPRINT FOR AN IMMEDIATE GESTURE TOWARD FEDERAL ECONOMY IS DESIGNED TO STOP THE THREAT OF UNCONTROLLED INFLATION AT THE SOURCE.

INSTEAD OF DEALING SUPERFICIALLY WITH SYMPTOMS AND EFFECTS, THE VIRGINIAN WOULD GO TO THE BASIC CAUSE AND ALTER THE INFLATIONARY FISCAL POLICY OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

AS A STEP toward prudent handling of the people's substance, and as an offset to salary increases, Senator Byrd has recommended an immediate reduction of employment of Federal workers from 48 to 41 hours a week.

The initial change, he estimates, would effect an immediate saving of $200,000,000 a year.

And a later cut from 44 to 40 hours would result in an ADDITIONAL saving of $200,000,000.

In supporting his demand, Mr. Byrd, who is chairman of the Joint Committee on Federal Economy, pointed out that the Federal goverment now has MORE THAN THREE TIMES AS MANY CIVILIAN EMPLOYES AS AT THE END OF WORLD WAR I and MORE THAN FIVE TIMES AS MANY AS IN MARCH, 1933.

Mr. Byrd said that out of the 2,988,023 civilian employes, 300,000 could be eliminated immediately without damage to governmental efficiency.

Eventually, he said, this army of tax eaters should be reduced to certainly less than a million persons.

Senator Byrd gave Mr. Truman good advice when he said:

"One of the important and pressing tasks before you and the Congress is to demobilize, as rapidly as the war permits, this gigantic civilian Federal army.

"I realize that this presents a great problem and one that will require courage and a very intelligent application of the plan of reduction, so that no essential function of the government may be crippled."

IF PRESIDENT TRUMAN follows this good counsel, he will indeed prove an uncommonly useful public servant.

For prudence and economy in Federal spending must be the prelude to tax reduction, which the citizens so urgently need.

Such a policy will prove a windfall to the self-supporting citizen for it will increase his spendable net income (after taxes).

By the same token, such an approach to a balanced budget will deal constructively at the source with the inflationary threat, and free the hard-working and thrifty people of the nation from the danger of a riotous financial orgy.

If the people could look beyond the technicalities of Senator Byrd's sensible proposal, they would recognize that the Virginian is heading a humane and immensely socially desirable movement.

In view of the pressure group demand for extravagant spending it is important to dramatize for the average citizen the significance to public welfare of the Byrd formula to assure continued national solvency.

Oh! If you love and are a woman,
Hide your love from him you worship;
Never let him know how dear he is;

When caught and caged,
And perish in forgetfulness.

IT HAS now been established that in conducting the war Hitler was guided by astrology. He placed great reliance on what his official stargazers told him. The British, knowing Der Fuehrer's belief in astrology, hired a stargazer to check on him. This astrologer, a Hungarian, was made a member of the British Army. Having closely checked Hitler's horoscope, he had a good idea of how the Nazi leader would view the general military situation on each day of the year. For example, he knew when Der Fuehrer might order an offensive. Or when he might order his armies to remain inactive. And so on. The British authorities have stated that the efforts of this Hungarian stargazer were "very helpful" in winning the war.

Now when you go riding,
And are dressed up so neat,
And you discover dog hairs
All over the automobile front seat.
Just take this little whisk broom
And whisk it up and down,
And in just a little jiffy
You'll be the cleanest man in town.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Didn't Blanche Ring introduce the song "The Bowery"? A—When "The Bowery" was introduced by Harry Connor in Hoy's "A Trip to Chinatown," Blanche was a girl in gingham gown going to grammar school in Boston. Q—My name is Alva E. Hash. Have you another reader named Hash? Q—You are the only Hash on our list so far. Q—The sergeant says Hartford, Ct., was once a major league baseball town. How about it?. A—The sergeant is right. Hartford was once in the National League. Great town.

OUT WEST: "I live in a part of California where there are still a lot of more men than women. And some of the men are lonely." So writes a resident of Taft, who adds: "I am a 45-year-old bachelor, work in the oil fields and make $190 a month. I have a nice six-room house in which I live by myself." (Note: If what this subscriber says is true about there being a lot of lonely bachelors in this part of California it might start a "husband rush" that would make the gold rush of '49 look tame by comparison.)

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A kindly subscriber has presented me with a "sun watch." This is a small sun dial in the form of a wrist watch. Looks very interesting. Am going to try it out if we get any sun in our neighborhood today . . . A farmer, defending the California hens, charged with not producing as many eggs as they could, writes: "There is too much crude fibre in the laying mash the farmers get now. Consequently the hens don't get as much benefit from their feed as they should and cannot lay as well. Don't blame the egg shortage on the hens. They are always in there trying hard to produce. There is no more conscientious animal alive than a hen."

PASSING BY: Harry Parks, erstwhile vaudevillian, was a trick cyclist. Harry claims to have performed before a motion picture camera before any man now alive. In 1894 in Washington, D. C., his bicycle act filmed and shown at the Kinetoscope museum in that city.

WASHINGTON SCENE

WASHINGTON, July 7—Rep. Karl E. Mundt, of South Dakota, has just come forward with what I consider a highly-constructive suggestion. He wants visitors to the Capitol provided with programs so they can tell what their Congressmen are doing.

Mr. Mundt, who is extremely Republican, even when viewed in a strong north light, also desires to have the Congressional Record made into a readable publication and placed on sale at newsstands, etc.

Rep. Mundt

We will first hear from Representative Mundt on the subject of programs for sightseers:

"When visitors enter either the Senate or House galleries they should be handed a folder, which sets forth what each Congressman is doing that particular day. The folder should explain that members not on the floor probably are attending committee meetings or are in their offices.

"When visitors see only a few members on the floor—maybe one making a speech and a couple of others yawning at him—they are liable to get the impression that we are not attending to our duties, that we are loafing somewhere or running around kissing babies.

"The truth of the matter is that the average Congressman works twice as hard and twice as long as the average person in private business. He has a thousand and one chores the voter never even hears about."

★ ★ ★

REPRESENTATIVE MUNDT heaved a deep Republican sigh and continued:

"This time actually spent on the floor in debate represents a mere fraction of his working schedule. The program should explain the activities of the various committees and the vast amount of spade work that is done in them before any measure gets to the floor.

"The way it is now, many visitors see only the empty seats and go away disgusted. They return home and condemn Congress."

★ ★ ★

REPRESENTATIVE MUNDT said the American people must be brought to a closer understanding of what Congress means to them. He warned that if the people ever lost their faith in Congress, Democracy will be lost too."

★ ★ ★

MR. MUNDT was equally vehement about making the Congressional Record a publication that people will find worth reading.

"It is the world's most important publication," he said, "and yet, unless you have had special training in reading it, you can hardly make head or tail of the thing.

"In the first place, it should be indexed. The way it is now it takes hours to find a particular item. Then the speeches should be printed in boldface type to distinguish them from other reading matter. The boldface would also serve to show, at a quick glance, where the speech begins and where it ends—if it ever does!"

LT. COL. HAL RORKE, Air Force Public Relations officer, who has just returned from Europe, reports the Army Signal Corps has worked out a sure-fire stunt for taking group pictures.

To make sure that everyone in the picture has a pleasant expression, the photographer requests them to say "Cheese!" just before he snaps the shutter.

If you don't believe it works, just try it in front of a mirror!

FIFTY GIRL REPORTERS were taken on a tour of Standard Oil's New Jersey research plant recently. They bombarded Bob Russell, president, with intricate questions on synthetic rubber—particularly as to how long it would be before girdles of synthetic rubber go on the market.

Under the cross-examination, Mr. Russell became somewhat flustered. Finally he said:

"Frankly, ladies, we have been so busy with war products we haven't had time yet to determine how to get what we want into a girdle."

He reddened like a sunset when three of the hussies chorused:

"Neither have we!"

NEW YORK, July 7—This is scrambled history a la Broadway or a columnist in a heat wave: The Reno Chamber of Commerce is picketing Henry the Eighth. They claim his way they lose money . . . Fred Allen will have Nero as his guest star on his program this week. The Emperor will do his hot violin specialty in an attempt to belittle Jack Benny's fiddling . . . Venus de Milo, the gal with the heart of stone, has dreamed up her own disarmament policy . . . Pluto is hot and bothered over a pretty named Persephone . . . Lewis Carroll's brainchild, Alice, is looking forward to seven years' bad luck. She just went through a looking glass . . . John the Baptist has lost his head over an Irish cutie named Sal O'Mea . . . Bert Frohman is introducing a new swing song written by Priscilla Alden called "Carry On John First Person Singular."

★ ★ ★

IT'S rumored that Lucrezia Borgia is the chef at that new nickel hamburger joint . . . The liquor shortage doesn't bother Eli Whitney. He's invented a way to make cotton gin . . . (Ha! I got a million of 'em!) . . . Jane Pickens' new coiffure makes Madame Pompadour look like Flattop . . . Margaret Webster and Bill Shakespeare are a torrid combination . . . A blonde named Nana will have a leading role in the Paris company of "Oklahoma!" Her specialty is "I Cain't Say No" . . . Queen Juno has Reno in the bean-o. Her spouse, Jupiter, is too distracted by the luscious Leda . . . King Arthur will preside at a series of round table discussions . . . Fanny Ward is feuding with Ponce De Leon. Claims that she discovered the Fountain of Youth.

★ ★ ★

RICHARD SHERIDAN (no relation to Ann) has written a play for Tallulah Bankhead. Those who've had a preview claim it's a cinch for the Pulitzer Prize . . . Spotted at the 1-2-3 Little Red Riding Hood with the town's most notorious wolf . . . According to his man Friday, a siren in a sarong, named Dorothy Lamour, is the reason why Robinson Crusoe doesn't care if he never comes back to civilization . . . Now that Waiter Scott's been knighted, he's being Sunday nighted at Leon & Eddie's . . . Daniel Boone had to pay a 20 per cent luxury tax for that fancy fur sombrero he's sporting . . . Bob Hope has Penelope in stitches . . . Cupid, who is all involved with Psyche, has begged Moss Hart to give him the name of a good psyche-analyst. (All right, all right—but it is hot in here!)

★ ★ ★

IS SHERMAN BILLINGSLEY'S face roseate? After summoning the boys with the nets for that fellow who tried to get into the Stork and claimed he was Napoleon, Sherm learned that's just who it was! . . . Helen of Troy is introducing a new torcheroo. It's called "The Last Time I Saw Paris" . . . Charles II is suing Kathleen Winsor for libel. Claims she left out two of his romances in favor of two of hers in "Forever Amber" . . . Mercury is grounded. He's used up all his shoe coupons and can't get any more winged sandals . . . Chaucer's Canterbury tales have just been banned in Boston.

THIS WILL FRY HIM!
AS YOU PROBABLY HEARD, PUFFLE, I OWN THAT LOT ON THE OTHER SIDE OF YOUR HOUSE, NOW ····AND SINCE YOUR BEDROOM WINDOWS FACE IT PLEASE DON'T TOSS ANY EMPTY BOTTLES OUT ON MY PROPERTY!
AH--KAF--HAR-R-UMPH SINCE YOU ARE THE OWNER OF THAT EYESORE, I ASK THAT YOU CLEAN IT UP AND CART AWAY THE DEBRIS! AHM--THERE'S NO TIME LIKE THE PRESENT, SIR!
THAT'S TELLING HIM, JUDGE.

HOLLYWOOD, July 7—Do you know what "honeyfogling" means? It means to spoof a girl with a few little gentle lies. At least, that's what Producer Fred Kohlmar tells me.

At the turn of the century it was a word commonly used and "Honeyfogling Time" is the title of a novel Virginia Dale wrote and sold for a very fancy sum to 20th. Virginia is a Chicagoan and started out as a movie writer. I used to know her long ago. She's been doing all right with her fiction, too.

Jeanne Crain

The story was bought for Jeanne Crain and that reminds me that although to all outward appearances Jeanne and Paul Brooks have cooled, I am told they have deliberately tried to create the impression on account of her mother and the studio are opposed to her marriage. An offer has gone to Laurette Taylor to play the mother in "Honeyfogling Time" and according to 20th this will be Jeanne's next.

THE "BIG TOWN" radio drama that for years starred Eddie G. Robinson and Claire Trevor, has been sold to the movies for $100,000 and the "takers" are Pine and Thomas of Paramount. The deal closed today, calling for two "Big Town" movies a year for the next seven years.

★ ★ ★

IF THERE WERE hurt feelings between Bob Hope and Frances Langford at the time of their radio breakup—it's over and forgotten. Bob cabled Frances from England, wishing her the best and saying her new show is swell. Well, that's like Hope. She's doing all right in her screen career, too. RKO will next star Frances in "The Bamboo Blonde" about a night-club singer who gets a bomber named after her and falls in love with the pilot.

THE LOUIS B. MAYER birthday party at MGM gave us a chance to see some of the new talent. Lana Romay is as cute as can be and she sang a new song especially for the occasion. Joan Elmes, another pretty newcomer, reminds me of Judy Garland. She has the same torchy voice and puts over a song in Judy fashion. A very funny routine was put on by Jimmy Durante and his old partner, Eddie Jackson. Jimmy said: "If Busher only had my nose he would win every race."

★ ★ ★

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Margo gets in today on a leave of absence from "A Bell for Adano." While she is here I hope Warners will nab her for "Serenade"—she would be perfect; Burgess Mederith almost thought he wasn't going to get back to Paulette and his movie. He really had his trouble getting reservations West, but he landed Thursday; Ginny Simms and Pat Nearny, out of uniform, doing the rounds. Apparently they have kissed and made up; Charles Chaplin, Jr., sent Dalya Goutman, Hollywood artist, a dagger and a pistol he had taken off a dead Nazi. Charles, Jr., writes to Goutman regularly; Gloria Vanderbilt and Leopold Stokowski seated in a corner eating spaghetti at Vesuvio, oblivious to the world.

WHEN IDA LUPINO stepped off the train she had a small alley cat in her arms. Well, I would rather it was Ida than me. Cats are not my weakness, but I love dogs; Col. William Keighley, back in New York, said the Ritz in Paris looked like a cafe in Hollywood. All in one day, Darryl Zanuck, Jack Warner, Barney Balaban, Anatole Litvak and Sol Lesser were lunching there; I saw a few scenes of "Paris Canteen" with Chevalier doing a number, also Marlene Dietrich and Noel Coward; Jon Hall is in the hospital at Ft. Ord suffering an attack of gallstones; the Ray McCareys celebrate their 21st wedding anniversary this weekend.

Boston After Dark

COINCIDENCE: Race Track Announcer Babe Rubenstein informed a large Friday gathering at Suffolk Downs that Tommy Holmes, the Braves' slugging outfielder, had broken the National League record for hitting safely in consecutive games . . . Thousands cheered when the pleasant-voiced Mr. Rubenstein made known that Tommy had tied and then broken Rogers Hornsby record . . . The Hornsby record was made in 33 games . . . Tommy broke it by doubling in his first time at bat in the 34th game . . . The news came over the track's loud speaker after the sixth race, with two races to go.

In the subsequent two races, that combination of digits, 3 and 4, immediately proved to be pay-off digits . . . Miss Identify, the No. 3 horse in the seventh race, waltzed home over a sloppy track to pay $13.80 for $2 . . . Decision, the No. 4 horse in the final heat, was made the favorite and proceeded to perform as a favorite should . . . You can bet that 3-4 will be a well-played double at the Downs today . . . Sports fans are hunch-y like that.

FALMOUTH RESIDENTS got a real thrill when Jim Mooney, the Fall River wholesaler who never misses a summer day of fishing if he can put to sea, returned from a trip to No Man's Land of Gay Head with the first swordfish Cape residents have gazed upon this season . . . The fish weighed 282 pounds, and Mr. Mooney registered his catch a day after newspaper stories told of Skipper Coot Hall of Cuttyhunk landing the first swordfish of the season on that famous fishing island.

IT'S A 7-POUND 13-ounce boy for the Leslie J. Fitzgeralds of Belmont . . . Mrs. Fitzgerald was Mildred Murray of Belmont, one of Greater Boston's most famous and beautiful models . . . The arrival makes John Murray, the Belmont manufacturer, who once pitched for Georgetown and the Boston Braves, a grandfather for the first time . . . Mother and infant are thriving—at the Phillips House.

THE MAGNOLIA CASINO will add Sally Sears of Boston's post-debutante ranks to its entertainment roster Monday . . . Sammy Eisen, one of the Casino's co-owners, directs the orchestra . . . The Casino resembles a motion picture set designer's idea of a dream nightclub, but one very real feature of the lovely jernt is that the liquor is of the very best . . . Busquit Dubouchet, for instance, is one of the brandies on hand . . . You haven't heard of that brand in so long that the name possibly doesn't register . . . Leo J. Power, former superintendent of public buildings in Boston for more than seven years, will be guest of honor Monday night at a testimonial dinner at the Hotel Statler.

MRS. DENIS W. DELANEY, wife of the Boston Collector of Internal Revenue, is convalescing at Lawrence General Hospital . . . Jack Larkin is converting his Hingham Red Coach Grill . . . While the shipyards were humming, the Red Coach was adapted to the demands of its patrons for lunches and quick lunches and straight drinks . . . It will be different shortly . . . The Grill will return to its original policy of featuring excellent dinners for leisurely dining . . . Mr. Larkin, incidentally, believes that he has turned up a gem of a hostess in Sonya, who presides over his Red Coach Grill at Middleboro . . . The Middleboro, Wayland, Providence and Boston units of the famous chain are playing to capacity.

A CRUSADE to rid Boston of cottage cheese is being organized by diners-out who rebel at the sight of the stuff on the plates where butter used to be . . . In at least one spot on Cape Cod, the Panama Club in Hyannis—cigarets are now being sold from vending machines . . . Gradually, cigarets are emerging from behind those counters hitherto devoted to enhancing the popularity and profits of their cagey operators . . . But the restoration of cigarets to public sale is taking much too long . . . Don't let the manager of your favorite store delude you into thinking he's doing you a real favor by producing a pack of your brand . . . There are plenty of cigarets in Boston and environs to meet the demand—openly.

Postwar Invasion Threat: Europe's People Eye U.S.

By AUSTEN LAKE

TODAY'S AGONY GEM deals with the threat of a mass stampede of Europe's troubled peoples to America in such droves as to dislocate the economies of this country—if we don't watch out! So pardon me if I holler before we get hurt!

Austen Lake

If there is one, all-consuming postwar ambition among the overseas peoples, with whom I so lately mingled, it is their universal yearning to escape the viciously narrow confines of the old world for the broader liberalities of the new. The strife-weary, politically-disillusioned and socially sick hordes have a single, concerted purpose—to get away from it all.

Wherever I moved I heard the same refrain, pitched to the key of disgust—in Germany, France, Luxembourg, Belgium, England, Scotland. It was always the voice of Europe's youth, tuned to a common revulsion against class tyrannies, state regimentation, official falsities, political spites, work-ruts, frontier fears, palace conspiracies, repetitious wars and the medieval mentality. I heard it in the faubourgs of France, the gasthauses of the Reich, the rural hedgerows and cathedral towns of Britain and the pubs of Wales.

German Girls Say "Ja"; French "Oui"

THIS WAS PRIMARILY A REVOLT of Europe's youth! For the elder folk, the bent and wizened grandperes and matriarchs, face the foggy future with patient resignation that is the inherent lot of Europe's people—to praise God and accept the inevitable. They would stay on, patch their ruins, plow their furrows and exist or die. Generations of patient humility had jelled their lives to a rigid fatalism. Let youth seek new horizons—the social blessedness and work opportunities of America. They would stay on to praise God and accept the inevitable!

The growing problem of fraternization bothers American authorities in the German areas of occupation. And well it might! For there is scarcely an unmarried Teuton female over 15 and under 50 who would not give her ears to become legalized as the "Mrs." of an American dogface,—in the hope of future transportation OUT. There was that bearded and muck-smeared sergeant in the Grand Palace at Mortaigne, France, where we watched the frenzied population, mostly female, greeting our passing troops last autumn. And he said, "There ain't a gal in France who wouldn't squeal 'oui-oui' if one of our guys said, 'Wot say, babe, let's get hitched?' "

The sergeant dragged long and lovingly at a cigaret butt pinched between nicotined fingers. The eyes above his grizzled cheeks were strangely blue. "'Not for the love of the guy, y'understand," adjured this cracker barrel philosopher, "just as a passport t'hell outa here . . ." Then, quizzically, "I been propositioned myself."

It's a small but symbolic example of the pall of cold hopelessness which blankets Europe like a dank fog of despair. Suspicion and fear are the ruling emotions. Distrust of neighbors, of government, even of religion and self. I stood with Dr. Henri DeVaux, former child specialist at the American Hospital in Paris and an ex-chief of the French underground. Paris had just been captured and we were watching French guerrillas herding a group of female "collaborationists" in a pistol-point parade down the Rue de Rennes. The women's heads were clipped! Their feet were bare! They were stripped of all but their scanty undergarments! And the guerrillas prodded them with ghoulish glee. "So the witch hunt begins," gloomed the Docteur. "Now no man knows his friends." Then, suddenly, "My wife urges me to go to New York." The old refrain! 'Escape! Refuge! Security! America! If only the people of the U. S. A. could appreciate the land we live in as much as the folk of Europe envy us!

It is understandable of course! Every native American, whatever his generation, is a refugee from overseas. We, or our forefathers, came to escape some form of oppression—poverty, squalor, religious persecution, political oppression, military conscription, work restraints, class grooves and the 77 distempers and mischiefs of the older worlds. Let us beware! For Europe's distempers are contagious.

They Would Embrace what They Tried to Destroy

READ THEN WHAT A WRITER of the Svensk Dagbladt of Stockholm said four months ago, before surrender. "During my wide travels through Germany and its subsidiary countries I found a curious condition of mind. Though the average German professes discreet confidence that his armies will force a just peace, the majority propose to emigrate from their country afterward and settle in one of the Americas. It amounts to obsession!"

It's the old political principle of "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." But read on. "Here," writes Dagbladt, "is a strange contradiction—to emigrate to what is now enemy territory and the 'evils of decadent democracy' which Germany seeks to destroy. It typifies man's distrust of Europe's future. He desires above all to escape from recurrent political and social ills and find haven where there is a prospect of peace and non-interference. The exodus of Europe's peoples promises to shift the balance of populations to the other side of the seas."

While America sympathizes with uprooted humanity and plans a philanthropic part in world rehabilitation, we too face a period of reconstruction, where unemployment will be a paramount puzzle. Eleven million service men will be searching for jobs. Transfer and retooling of war industries will take time and exhaust savings. Women who have found "emancipation" in war work; the scarcity of raw materials, the lack of fluid capital and the drains of super-taxation will be exhausting factors.

Thus though benevolent America may like to become boarding house to the refugee world, if we permit impractical idealism to open our national arms to Europe's disillusioned millions, our unemployment riddle will become chaotic and our professed role as world provider will resolve into inability to provide for anybody, including ourselves. What kind of charity is it that consumes the benefactor?

Keeler's 44 Holmes Goal

By BILL GRIMES

Although he has been under terrific pressure since experts delved into the files and came up with the information that the modern day record for the most consecutive games any National League player has hit safely was 33, Tommy Holmes refused to crack and in the second game of yesterday's doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates he broke the mark established in 1922 by Rogers Hornsby.

"Of course, I got a great thrill, when I slapped that two-bagger down the line off "Preacher" Roe in the second game," confessed Tommy, while he was donning his civies, "but, honestly, the first thing I thought of was those fans out in the jury box and the bleachers. They have been behind me to a man since you fellows began to talk, or rather write, about my chances of breaking Hornsby's mark.

"You should have been out there and listened to them," continued Tommy. "They are a scream. 'Keep loose, Tommy, and you can't miss,' they'd yell. And believe me, I tried to follow their advice.

"I appreciate all these congratulations but I still don't get it. What's all the shouting about? Sure, I've hit safely in 34 consecutive games. But, what is that?

"A couple of weeks ago, I got hold of one of those 'Red Books.' You fellows write about my going after the modern record. What is modern baseball? The game is practically the same as it was before the turn of the century. And, according to the 'Red Book' Willie Keeler hit safely in 44 consecutive games in 1897, thereby smashing the record set by Bill Dahlen two years previously by two games.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND IT

"But, seriously, I cannot understand how Hornsby's 33-game stretch ever got into the 'Red Book.' And, I cannot see why they should enter my 34-game mark. Of course, if I'm lucky enough to keep going for 10 more games, I will be deserving of recognition and should I beat Keeler's record, then I believe my feat should eliminate all mention of Hornsby, Dahlen and Keeler.

"Thanks to the way the fans have been behind me, I do not believe I have been under too much of a strain. They tell me that on five occasions, I was a "dead duck" until my last time at bat. I recall that that was true in Brooklyn, where, playing before my home crowd, I suspect that I was pressing.

"John Quinn is going to send the bat, which is too heavy for me to swing, to Louisville and have the barrell turned down to the size of the one I broke.

"I'll be back out there tomorrow afternoon swinging for my base hits," concluded Tommy. "And, I'll continue to keep my jury box and bleacher pals in a lather, until I connect with a safe drive. But, regardless of what's in store for me, I'll never forget the support and encouragement I received from the Boston fans."

Holmes is hitting for a cool 407. He has been at bat 300 times, made 122 hits, which is tops for both major leagues, has scored 73 runs made 13 home runs and has batted in 66 runs.

The Braves and Pirates play a single game this afternoon with large John Hutchings and "Rip" Sewell as the starting pitchers.

Vince Shupe is due to report this morning and he will be at first base.

Eskimo Nine Beats Yankees

BARROW, Alaska, July 7 (AP)—A baseball game finished in the light of the midnight sun climaxed an Independence Day celebration for whites and Eskimos at this American outpost on the north horizon. The Eskimos won, 24 to 14.

Beyond the playing field on the deep sand of the ocean shore, the Arctic was jammed with heavy ice that prevented staging of the customary July 4 kayak races.

Holmes Scores Hit For 35 Straight Games

By BILL GRIMES

NATIONAL LEAGUE FIELD, July 7—A ladies day crowd of about 4,000, turned out to witness today's game between the Braves and Pirates at the Wigwam this afternoon.

Manager Coleman sent Johnny Hutchings to the mound for the Braves, while Truff "Rip" Sewell was sent in to oppose him.

Both teams wind up the current series with a double-header tomorrw.

Vionce Shupe, who arrived at Braves Field this morning from Indianapolis, was at first base for the Braves, while Phil Masi returned to his old stand behind the plate.

Tommy Holmes ran his consecutive hit record to 35 in the fourth inning when he was credited with an infield single down first base line.

FIRST INNING

PIRATES—Coscarart fanned. Russell grounded out, Shupe to Drews to Hutchings who covered first. Gionfriddo singled. Hutchings threw out Coleman. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—Ramsey singled. Aamsey went out stealing, Lopez to Coscarart. Culler walked. Holmes walked. Workman forced Holmes, Coscarart to Barnhart, and when Barnhart threw wild to first, Culler scored and Workman reached first. Masi struck out. ONo RUN.

SECOND INNING

PIRATES—Drews threw out Elliott. Barrett hit a home run into the jury box in right field. Culler threw out Barnhart. Lopez singled. Sewell singled. Coscarart fouled to Workman. ONE RUN.

BRAVES—Sewell threw out Gillenwater. Shupe flied to Gionfriddo. Barnhart threw out Drews. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

PIRATES—Russell grounded out Shupe to Hutchings who covered first. Gionfriddo flied deep to Gillenwater. Colman grounded out to Shupe. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—Hutchings singled. Ramsey grounded into a double play, Barnhart to Coscarart to Colman. Barnhart threw out Culker. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

PIRATES—Elliott flied to Gillenwater. Barrett walked. Barrett was caught off first, Hutchings to Shupe. Barnhart popped to Drews. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—Holmes singled. It was the 35th consecutive game in which Holmes has hit safely. Workman walked. Masi singled, scoring Holmes and sending Workman to third. Gillenwater singled, Workman scoring and Masi taking second. Shupe flied to Russell. Drews popped to Barnhart. Hutchings doubled, scoring Masi and Gillenwater. Ramsey doubled, scoring Hutchings. Culler hit to Elliott who tagged Ramsey on the line near third base. FIVE RUNS.

FIFTH INNING

PIRATES—Lopez singled. Waner batted for Sewell and flied to Gillenwater. Lopez was trapped between first and second, Masi to Drews to Shupe, and when Drews dropped Shupe's return throw Lopez reached second. Coscarart struck out. Russell grounded out, Shupe to Hutchings, who covered first. NO RUNS.

BRAVES—Cuccurullo went in to pitch for the Pirates. Holmes groundedout, Colman to Cucurullo, who covered first. Workman singled. Masi fled to Russell. Gillenwater forced Workman, Barnhart to Coscarart. NO RUNS.

Dead Heat as Camera is Kept Busy at Suffolk

By JACK CONWAY

WITH FIVE favorites winning and photo finishes being required to determine four winners, Suffolk Downs under the direction of Allan Wilson set a new high for competitive racing yesterday. It is seldom that any race track has had so many top horses battling on such even terms down to the mythical wire.

One of the most stirring finishes occurred in the first race when Tony G. and Glorious Sec finished in a dead heat for first. First Glorious Sec and then Tony G. looked like winners. Just as the horses were about to reach the finish line Glorious Sec made a final gallant effort, and the photo showed that the race ended in a dead heat.

The 17,000 fans at the track appreciated the exciting finish and they were liberal with their applause for Jockey Balzaretti, upon Tony G., and George McMullen who gave Glorious Sec such a fine ride.

The public has been quick to appreciate good riding at Suffolk Downs.

When Jockeys Calvert and Trent were injured on the holiday, the 39,000 waited in suspense to hear the report of Dr. Martin H. Spellman. There was a cheer when it was announced that the jockeys, the victims of the worst spill during the meeting, escaped with only minor injuries.

"My horse was running perfectly until he suffered a broken leg," Jockey Calvert told me shortly after the race. "I was conscious when I landed on the ground and watched the other jockeys in the race fan out in an effort to prevent their mounts hitting me. One horse stepped on my thigh. I then passed out for a few minutes, but soon recovered consciousness.

"As a young rider, I was taught to remain motionless after a spill. The other riders and the horses will usually save one from harm if they are not too close to you when the jam happens."

★ ★ ★

Richmond Gets Nod

RICHMOND won the second race in a photo finish over Wise Decision. It was a battle for top honors right down to the wire with the big crowd cheering the efforts of the two horses.

The other races on the card also produced their share of thrills. Home Front upset Davie's Sister after a hard battle through the stretch.

Do-Reigh-Me, the favorite, won over Westwood Belle in a driving finish. J. J. Lynch was obliged to step at his best to gain the award from Rough Man.

A heavy shower in the late afternoon failed to take away from the fine competitive racing. The eighth race also saw a favorite, Decision, showing the way for all rivals.

Handicappers Click

IT WAS another big day for the handicappers of the Green Sports Special. Dave Wilson picked the daily double of Glorious Sec and Richmond, while he also named Decision to win. Bill McAuley and Dave Komie also scored with winners.

Pirates, Tigers Game Is Off

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—The Major League All-Star game, dropped this year as a travel conservation measure, will be replaced Monday and Tuesday of next week by seven games pitting National League nines against American Loop teams with war relief getting the receipts.

An eighth game, involving Pittsburgh of the National and Detroit of the American, was planned but was deleted at the request of the ODT because of the traveling it involved.

The program is:

Monday night—Chicago Cubs at Chicago White Sox; New York Yankees at New York Giants (8:30 PEW); Cincinnati Reds at Cleveland Indians.

Tuesday afternoon — Boston Braves at Boston Red Sox.

Tuesday night — St. Louis Browns vs. St. Louis Cards at Sportsman Park; Brooklyn Dodgers at Washington Senators; Philadelphia Phils at Philadelphia Athletics.

Jake La Motta Wins Award Over Bell

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP) — Jake La Motta, the 5 to 11 favorite from the Bronx, spoiled Tommy Bell's Madison Square Garden debut last night by pounding out a unanimous 10-round decision over the highly regarded Youngstown welterweight in an action-crammed bout.

Red Sox Must Find Spot for Lou Finney

By HUCK FINNEGAN

CLEVELAND, July 7—This western trip will close for the Red Sox tomorrow when they play a doubleheader with the Indians at Municipal Stadium. In view of Tuesday's clash with the Braves, this seems an appropriate spot to point out the highlights of the jaunt.

First, Camilli reported in Chicago, Finney in St. Louis. Camilli is still a "Fancy Dan" around the bag, and he proved in Detroit that he's getting the range again. His best day was the final game of the series in which he poled a homer and two sizzling singles.

Lou Finney

Finney is thinner than last year, retains his strong arm and is macing the ball in practice. He'll be ready to step into the lineup after the All-Star game, but room must be made for him on the roster. The Sox have 25 on the player list without him. Whether Cronin intends to go on the inactive list like Pinky Woods, or whether an outfielder will be shifted to Louisville will be revealed within a few days.

Second, the comeback of Jim Wilson and the rise of Randy Heflin. Wilson hadn't finished a game since May 13 until he shut out the Tigers last Tuesday. He's got the pitching equipment to win 20 games. His victory over the Tigers may give him needed confidence Heflin broke in with a six-hitter against the Browns. That he lost 3-2 was no fault of his own. He had the game won 2-1 when Tobin tripped with the third out in the ninth. Nor was Randy bad last night as he lost to the Indians, 4-2. Only two hits were made off him in the four-run fourth. One went through Lake, the other hopped over his head.

Imagine giving up only three hits in seven innings and leaving the ball game for a pinch hitter, trailing 4 to 1. The Kid's got everything but luck. He'll do some fine pitching in the long home stand ahead.

Third, Ferriss, the Mississippi youngster won three games on the trip. He won the first in Chicago with his own ninth inning home run. He won the second in a relief role in St. Louis when the Sox scored five runs with two out in the ninth. His third was a neat seven-hitter against the Tigers. "One of his best games," said catcher Garbark.

Other high spots, Tobin's diving, barehanded stop of Christman's liner in St. Louis. "Best stop of the season," said third base Umpire Cal Hubbard. Culberson's hitting. The Kid averaged about two hits a game on the road, climaxing it all with an inside-the-park homer last night. He missed a second homer by a foot. Metkovich's hitting against Newhouser. The "Cat," a left handed batter, got three off the Southpaw in Detroit. Hits him better than most right handed batters.

TOUGH ON BASES

Ripped him to pieces in Boston earlier in the season and he got 5 hits in last night's doubleheader. Lazor's throwing, Johnson's relief pitching. Southpaw Vic deserves a starting shot.

Everything hasn't been rosy, however. The Sox base-running has been distinctly amateurish, their fielding in spots unpardonably bad. If not, they wouldn't have a 5-7 record entering today's game with the Indians. But their pitching is in better shape than it has been in a month and their chances for a successful home stay are bright.

They can hit.

Cross Gridders Out Monday

WORCESTER, Mass., July 7 (AP)—The Holy Cross football team will begin summer observation practice on Monday with two World War II veterans available, Coach John Dagrosa announced today.

The two weeks' daily sessions will take the place of spring training, which was cancelled because of insufficient material.

Stanley Koslowski, high scorer in the east as a Holy Cross freshman in 1943, and former T-Sgt. Steve Conroy, guard on the 1940-41, will report.

Smith Opposes Sox Jim Wilson

By HERB FINNEGAN

CLEVELAND, O., July 7—Ah, this was like the old days—nine innings of baseball in the afternoon. As a result, Red Sox and Indians were in chipper mood this afternoon for the third game of the series.

Two down after dropping both ends of the twolight-arclight twin bill last evening, the Sox shot Jim Wilson at the Indians today. In his last outing, Wilson blanked the Tigers.

Cleveland's pitcher was southpaw Al Smith.

FIRST INNING

RED SOX—Lake flied to Mackiewicz. Metkovich hit a home run over right field wall. McBride singled. R. Johnson walked. Culberson singled, scoring McBride, R. Johnson taking third. Newsome flied to Heath, R. Johnson scoring after the catch. Steiner forced Culberson at second, Rocco to Boudreau. THREE RUNS.

INDIANS—Meyer flied to Culberson. Rocco singled. O'Dea walked. Heath hit a home run over rightfield wall, scoring behind Rocco and O'Dea. Boudreau was safe when Steiner fumbled his grounder. Hayes struck out. Ross flied to R. Johnson. THREE RUNS.

SECOND INNING

RED SOX—Garbark flied to Rocco. Wilson flied to Mackiewicz. Lake hit a home run into the left field bleachers. Metkovich walked. McBride singled. Henry now pitching for Cleveland. R. Johnson walked. Culberson flied to Mackiewicz. ONE RUN.

INDIANS—Mackiewicz fouled to Metkovich. Henry singled. Meyer hit into a doubleplay, Newsome to Steiner to Metkovich. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

RED SOX—Newsome doubled. Steiner sacrificed, Rocco to Meyer, Newsome taking third. Garbark flied to Heath, Newsome scoring after the catch. Boudreau threw out Wilson. ONE RUN.

INDIANS—Rocco singled. O'Dea hit into a double play, Metkovich to Lake to Metkovich. Heath flied to R. Johnson. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

RED SOX—Lake walked. Metkovich forced Lake at second, Henry to Boudreau. McBride fouled to Rocco. R. Johnson singled. Fox ran for Johnson. Culberson struck out. NO RUNS.

INDIANS—McBride moved to left and Fox went to right for Boston. Boudreau singled. Hayes walked. Ross sacrificed, Garbark to Steiner. Ryba relieved Wilson for Boston. Mackiewicz singled, scoring Boudreau and Hayes. Henry walked, Mackiewicz taking third. Meyer flied to McBride and Mackiewicwz was doubled at the plate, McBride to Garbark. TWO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING

RED SOX—Newsome flied to Heath. Steiner was out, Rocco to Henry. Garbark flied to Mackiewicz. NO RUNS.

INDIANS—Rocco flied to McBride. O'Dea tripled. Heath struck out. Boudreau walked. Hayes singled, scoring O'Dea. Ross flied to Fox. ONE RUN.

Sleep in Day Coach—Veterans, en route from Camp Shanks, N. Y., to Ft. Lewis, Washington, a 65-hour trip, attempt to sleep in crowded coaches as turmoil over moving GIs in day coaches puts a Pullman ban on civilian travel. Army records revealed that 91 per cent of vets shipped from Camp Shanks were forced to sleep in day coach seats.
